Reserve Militia to Be Mustered From Service April 1st

New Guard Resumes as Illinois' First Line of Defense Then

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14—(AP)—The Illinois reserve militia—the state's wartime counterpart of the National Guard—will be completely mustered out of service by about April 1, Maj. Gen. Leo M. Boyle said today.

At that time, the reorganized guard will resume after a six year lapse its function as the state's first line of defense.

The mustering out process, begun two weeks ago, is proceeding concurrently with building up of the National Guard's 33rd and 44th Infantry divisions and other units to a total authorized strength of 38,500.

Boyle, who as adjutant general of Illinois is active head of the militia and a high guard official, said the militia's second Infantry regiment was expected to be ready for deactivation by Feb. 23 and the First Infantry by March 26. Both are Chicago units.

Cut in Next 6 Weeks

The remaining Chicago regiment—the Eighth—and the four downstate regiments with headquarters at Waukegan, Alton, Champaign and Peoria gradually will be reduced through the next six weeks.

Boyle said the militia's dissolution would mean release of War department equipment valued at $3,000,000, including 417 jeeps, trucks, ambulances and other types of motor vehicles used by militia troops.

The War department may reallot much of this to the Illinois guard, Boyle added.

Quash Indictments of City Officials

Belleville, Ill., Feb. 14—(AP)—A blanket indictment charging the mayor, three city commissioners and a former commissioner of East St. Louis, Ill., with malfeasance in office for failure to suppress gambling there was dismissed today by Circuit Judge Edward F. Bareis.

In dismissing the indictment Judge Bareis upheld defense arguments that charges were vague and that one of the two counts failed to include the words "in the name and by authority of the people of Illinois."

With the action, Mayor John T. Connors and John T. English, commissioner of police; A. P. Lauman, commissioner of public property and the fire department; Joseph W. Ganschinietz, finance commissioner, and Leo J. Dougherty, retired streets commissioner, were free of all charges made against them in indictments returned by the St. Clair county grand jury last December.

Connors and the three commissioners were renominated by substantial margins in the non-partisan East St. Louis primary last Tuesday and will be up for re-election April 1. Dougherty was not a candidate.

Individual indictments against the men were dismissed Jan. 16 on the recommendation of State's Attorney Louis P. Zerweck who told the court at that time it would be impossible to substantiate the charges individually, since the defendants could shift the responsibility from one to another if they were tried separately.

Ceilings on Hotel Rooms Eligible to Decontrol by OPA

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—The nation's traveling public will get first word tomorrow on higher room rents for hotels, motor courts and tourist homes.

Effective Saturday, all transient rooms in these establishments which have been under OPA rent ceilings will become eligible for decontrol. The removal of controls is not automatic. Landlords must apply separately.

An American Automobile association official told reporters a recent survey shows motor court operators will boost their rates 10 to 20 percent in most cases, and even more in resort areas.

The AAA estimated there are 15,000 courts with some 175,000 rooms. Those occupied by permanent guests will remain under ceilings.

Majority May Apply

M. O. Ryan, Washington representative of the American Hotel association, said he expects a "majority," perhaps 15,000 to 20,000 of the estimated 24,000 hotels, to apply for decontrol. But, he said, "we do not expect any percentagewise increase throughout the country."

The 24,000 hotels have about 1,500,000 rooms under ceilings, of which about 100,000 are reserved for permanent guests, he estimated.

Ryan predicted that most hotels

TNT Explodes, Killing Many in Philippines

Manila, Feb. 14—(AP)—A Manila Daily Bulletin correspondent reported 18 persons killed, many missing and several injured today when a pile of TNT exploded at the U. S. 13th Airforce ammunition depot at Barrio Rosario, town of Bauan, in the province of Batangas.

The correspondent said the blast wrecked many houses. Detonations were heard for 30 miles.

Mos of the casualties were civilian drivers and laborers transporting boxes of TNT from the depot to the seaport.

The injured were taken to the U. S. Army hospital at Batangas.

Truman Doesn't Say Yes But He Doesn't Say No to Newsmen

Quizzed on the '48 Race, President Makes No Direct Statement

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—President Truman, by the simple act of not taking himself out of the race, appeared today to have closed the door against a build-up for any possible rival for the 1948 Democratic presidential nomination.

Political Washington marked off as more or less expected the president's indirect refusal yesterday to commit himself on Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan's action in placing Truman's hat in the 1948 ring.

Saying he had expected some such query, Truman read to his news conference a statement in which he said that "in view of certain comment regarding the presidency. I wish to say that there has been no change in my

Wrong Man May Be Serving Life Term

Fresno, Calif., Feb. 14—(AP)—Police and FBI agents today checked a story which may prove the wrong man is serving a life term for a killing near a Kansas army camp 32 months ago.

In prison serving life is former Pvt. A. B. Richie, Hickory, N. C., who had successfully appealed from a death sentence for the slaying of Cpl. Pete De Fusco, Uniontown, Pa., near Camp Phillips. And in custody here today was Otho Charles Stockdale, 25, Fresno locomotive fireman, whom Detective Sgt. S. G. Vind quoted as saying:

"He (De Fusco) didn't like the brand of whisky I'd bought, so I hit him. Well, then he seemed to be dead."

Richie, according to this version, was not involved in any way in the death.

The sergeant said Stockdale's conscience hadn't bothered him about Richie's conviction for the killing, because, the fireman explained, "I didn't know the guy."

6,000 Miners Strike in Sympathy with 13 Anthracite 'Sit Downers'

Lansford, Pa., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Six thousand miners today quit work in sympathy with 13 hard coal diggers on a sitdown strike 800 feet below the surface of the earth.

The Panther Valley committee of the AFL United Mine Workers voted to halt work beginning with today's shift in a sympathy move for the coal diggers who are protesting docking of pay.

Meanwhile, miners went to work supplying the sitdown strikers with food, blankets, newspapers and other comforts.

"It's going to be a fight to the finish," declared a committee spokesman.

Fifteen miners refused to leave the Lansford workings of the Lehigh Navigation Coal Company Wednesday night, but two emerged later, one because of illness and the other because he was a bridegroom and he had promised to help his wife set up a new home.

As for the others, Chairman Fred Gallagher of the Lansford UMW local said "everybody is happy and comfortable, but they are very serious minded. They are not kids—the average age is 45—and don't think it is a joke."

"The men are huddled together in a mine shanty on the fifth level," he reported. "There is an electric stove in the place. We took them plenty of blankets, newspapers and magazines and other things."

The 1,200 others working at the colliery refused to go to work yesterday and emptied their lunch pails, lowering enough food to the men to last for several days.

Today's shutdown brings a complete halt to the vast Lehigh Navigation operations at Lansford, Coaldale, Nesquehoning and Tamaqua.

The 13 men protested what they said was company docking of pay for failure to work a full day.

Evan Evans, vice president and general manager of the company, said "no formal grievance has been presented to the company by the group and when this action is taken we shall hear it with a sympathetic attitude."

"Costs must be lowered," he said, "and the only way that can be done is through more production and at least a full day's work by each individual who is paid for a full day's work."

Court House Events Reported in Newsy Roundup of Details

Helfrich Fined for Contempt; Two Divorce Decrees Are Granted

George Helfrich, 21, 920 Chicago avenue, was fined $100 by Judge Grover W. Gehant in Lee County court yesterday afternoon on a citation for contempt of court on the charge that he had violated terms of his county court probation.

Helfrich was placed on probation here by Judge Gehant in September on a charge of reckless driving, and his drivers license was revoked at that time.

On Nov. 14 he va involved in an automobile accident at Mt. Morris in which a woman was injured. He received a sentence in Ogle county on charges growing from the accident.

Probate Matters

Mrs. Ida Miller, Amboy, was granted letters of administration yesterday by County Judge Grover W. Gehant in the $114,000 estate of her husband, Loren B. Biller, who died in Amboy Jan. 12.

The estate includes real estate valued at $75,000 and personal property valued at approximately $39,000.

Heirs to the estate include Mrs. Miller; two sons, Orville L., West Brooklyn, and Clarence, Steward, and two daughters, Blanche Maley, Rochelle, and Edith Pickle, Stillman Valley.

In Circuit Court

Judge George C. Dixon this morning granted two divorces and changed child custody provisions in another case in Lee county Circuit court.

Divorces were granted to Mrs. Mildred Mayberry and to Mrs. Fredda Smith.

Mrs. Mayberry, who charged her husband, Robert, with cruelty, was allowed to resume the use of her maiden name, Haggerty. They were married June 17, 1946, at Piggott, Ark. She was represented by Attorney A. G. Harris, while William Gunner represented Mayberry.

Mrs. Smith charged her husband, Scott, with cruelty and habitual drunkenness, alleging that on one occasion he threw a bottle of cream at her. She was awarded custody of their two children, Jerome, 3, and Jeffry, 5 weeks, and Smith was ordered to pay $15 weekly in support, costs of the suit and $50 in solicitors fees. She was represented by Attorney George Nichols, Smith by Sherwood Dixon.

Custody Transferred

Meantime, Judge Dixon transferred the custody of a son, Richard, 14, from Mrs. Caroline Barton to the boy's father, Grant Barton, on the petition of Mrs. Barton, who declared she was unable to adequately care for him at present.

By terms of their divorce decree, Barton was to pay $75 monthly for the support of the boy and his mother. Judge Dixon cut the payments to $37.50, and stipulated that Mrs. Barton is entitled to have custody of the boy on alternate weekends from 7 p. m. Saturday until 9 p. m. Sunday. She was rep-

U. S.-Soviet Battle on Atomic Energy Again Strikes U.N.

Lake Success, N. Y., Feb. 14—(AP)—The bitter conflict between the United States and Soviet Russia over atomic control was brought into the open again today by a new Soviet demand that atomic weapons must be outlawed before any control system is set up.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko disclosed his position as the United Nations security council prepared to meet at 2 p. m. to resume debate on a blueprint for atomic control, based on American proposals and approved by the U. N. atomic energy commission last Dec. 30, with Russia and Poland abstaining.

Since the Soviet proposal already had been rejected by the atomic commission last summer, the move to raise the issue again was interpreted as an indication that Gromyko was prepared to make a last-ditch fight against the U. S. plan.

At the same time Warren R. Austin, U. S. delegate, said the United States stood firmly behind its own plan, which calls for a system of international controls of inspections and veto-free punishment for violators as a condition for outlawing atomic weapons.

Arms Committee Approved

Meanwhile, the machinery was set in motion to put the new U. N. arms reduction commission into operation as a distinctly separate companion body to the atomic commission. Final approval of the resolution creating the new "conventional arms" commission was given by the council yesterday.

The next move was for Secretary-General Trygve Lie to notify the 11-member nations formally and ask them to designate their representatives. Lie will call a meeting of the commission as soon as the membership is completed.

The U. N. has put the heat on some of the world's top-flight generals and admirals over a report they are supposed to be drafting an organization of an international military force for the U. N.

After waiting an entire year for word, the security council voted to give its military staff committee until April 30 to bring in some recommendations.

Confessed Slayer Verifies His Tale

Chicago, Feb. 14—(AP)—Police announced that Frank Frederick Hertle, 28, who voluntarily stated to Akron, O., authorities yesterday that he had slain two women in Chicago in 1941, accurately pointed out today the place where the bodies of two unsolved slaying victims were found.

Capt. Philip Brietzke, who went to Akron last night and brought Hertle to Chicago, said the man had related several circumstances of the two killings "known only to the police and the slayer."

Breitzke said he and Sgt. John Ascher took Hertle direct from the train on which they had returned from Akron to Chicago's north side, and that he led them unhesitatingly to the places where an unidentified woman's body was found near a railroad embankment Aug. 21, 1941, and where the body of Mrs. Bergit Kyvik, 23, was found Dec. 15, 1941.

Gave Accounts

The police captain said also that Hertle gave accounts of the women's deaths which agreed with police records, relating that he had choked the first victim with piano wire after meeting her in a tavern, and clubbed the second woman with a paving brick.

Breitzke said a formal statement would be taken from Hertle today and that the man might be asked to act out his account of the slayings.

Hertle was held without charge.

Akron authorities said he had walked into a bowling alley in the Ohio city Wednesday and asked the proprietor to call the police. At the police station, they said, he volunteered his stories. Chicago police were notified, and Breitzke and Ascher flew to Akron last night, returning by train with Hertle early today.

Dogs, Chickens Make Cop's Life Interesting

Streator, Ill., Feb. 14—(AP)—Anything can happen to a cop, and usually does, Streator policemen say.

Recently a Streator family which had been called to Michigan suddenly by a relative's illness telephoned police and asked them if they would go to their home, remove two dogs that had been locked inside, and feed and water three chickens in the basement.

The police complied. They impounded the dogs pending the family's return.

BULLETIN

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—The senate-house budget committee today rejected a compromise proposal to hold the cut in President Truman's budget to $4,150,000,000.

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—Congress members intent on whacking $6,000,000,000 off the $37,000,000,000 President Truman says the government needs for a year's operations won the first tests today in the 102-member senate-house budget committee.

They shouted down a proposal by Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) to bar any slashes in Army-Navy funds and knocked down 42 to 27 a move by Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) to open the proceedings to press and public.

The $6,000,000,000-cut recommended by a subcommittee would trim $1,750,000,000 from a fund of about $11,000,000,000 for the armed services.

Members fighting this rallied behind a proposal by Senator Gurney (R SD), to hold the over-all cut to $4,500,000,000.

In other congressional developments:

Major Gen. Edmond H. Leavey acknowledged to the house Merchant Marine committee that the Army is using troopships with "serious deficiencies" in safety facilities. He insisted, however, that it is not "unnecessarily jeopardizing" any lives. The committee is inquiring generally into the state of American shipping.

Harold W. Story, vice president of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, told the house labor committee about the present strike of more than a year (CIO United Auto Workers) at his firm's plants. He said congress should seek to "nullify the destructive effects of communistic union leaderships" without harming "sound" unions.

More Republicans lined up today to oppose confirmation of David E.

Police Find Teeth; Seeking Owner Now

Chicago, Feb. 14—(AP)—Chicago avenue police looked into the faces of elevator operators today and hoped their search for Patrick Gallagher would click.

Gallagher is the 48-year-old elevator operator who yesterday enlisted aid of police in touring the near north side in search of a restaurant where he had left his upper denture—and his overcoat—as security for payment of a lunch.

Gallagher, however, couldn't remember the location and the tour was unsuccessful.

Today Milton Dultz, owner of a North Clark street restaurant, old Chicago avenue police he had Gallagher's false teeth. He said Gallagher could have them if he settled an account of $2 for two meals. Police recalled Gallagher had reported his meal check was 40 cents.

Dultz said it was Gallagher's idea of leaving the false teeth as added security while he went home for the money to pay for the meals.

But police still had their teeth in the case. They can't find Gallagher. He didn't leave any address.

Appeals Court Upholds Sugar Ration Decision

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals today upheld a District court decision which OPA officials say may upset the entire sugar rationing program.

The appeals court's 2 to 1 decision was given on OPA's appeal from a ruling Jan. 28 by District Judge F. Dickinson Letts. In that, Letts held invalid the agency's "historical use" system of allocating sugar to producers of bulk sweetened condensed milk.

Letts' ruling was issued in a suit brought by the Moberly Milk Co., of Moberly, Mo., which contended that the OPA allocation formula—based on the amount of sugar used by a company in previous years—is illegal under the war mobilization and reconversion act of 1944.

Attorneys for the milk company argued this act prohibited "discrimination" against small businesses in the allocating of materials for peacetime use. They asserted that after the formula was put into effect last Nov. 1 for condensed milk producers, the Moberly company had been unable to obtain sufficient sugar to meet its needs.

Slain

The body of Mrs. Ruth Peterson, above, was found sprawled on the floor of her home at Waukegan, Ill., by her husband Arnold, when he returned from an evening of bowling Feb. 12. Mrs. Peterson had been beaten and stabbed to death. Police say the crime was probably done by a maniac. (NEA Telephoto)

Search for Maniac as Woman's Slayer

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 14—(AP)—Police hunted a maniacal slayer today as they intensified their investigation of the brutal killing of Mrs. Ruth Peterson, 29, whose stabbed and beaten body was found in her bungalow home Wednesday night.

Police had some tangible evidence, including a crudely made tomahawk, but investigators said they had not uncovered any definite motive for the killing of the attractive young housewife.

Mrs. Peterson, whose husband, Arnold, 31, is a department supervisor at the Abbott laboratories in North Chicago, had not been raped and the slayer fled without stealing anything from the house.

Peterson, upon his return home at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday, found his wife dead on the dining room floor, her skull crushed and a three-inch paring knife in her breast. Their three-year-old daughter, Pamela, was in the house at the time.

Government Seeks to Recover Big Sum from Garsson Brothers' Firm

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—The government asked the U. S. tax court today to back its demand that one of the former Garsson munitions firms return "excessive profits" on a war contract.

The War Price Adjustment Board charged that Erie Basin Metals Products, Inc., Elgin, Ill., made $1,270,000 in "excessive profits" during the 12 months ended Nov. 30, 1943, although its "tangible net worth" at the beginning of that period was only $11,832. The court has jurisdiction in price adjustment cases where no amicable compromise is reached.

The board asked that the company be ordered to return to the government $585,874.48 cash, saying that $881,125.22, the balance of the $1,270,000, had been recouped already in taxes.

The Garsson brothers, Murray and Henry, are under indictment along with former Rep. Andrew J. May of Kentucky on conspiracy charges connected with the operations of their wartime munitions empire. The Garssons are no longer associated with the Illinois firm.

Erie basin asked the tax court earlier to bar the government claim, denying that its profits were excessive.

The company also protested a move by government contract renegotiators to disallow as excessive $63,000 of its charges for executive salaries and $10,000 of is charges for expenses of operating its Washington office.

The company said today expenses of its Washington office were $17,723.38 for the 12-month period, or less than 3/10 of 1 per cent of sales, and added the office was needed for "expediting materials and handling other matters covered by government regulations."

The company said its receipts for the 12-month period totaled $6,726,890.95 while costs and expenses were $5,627,088.82, leaving a net profit of $1,099,802.13 before federal income taxes or $229,802.13 after those taxes were paid.

Attlee Turns Down Truman's Offer of Aid in Coal Crisis

Europe's Need No Less Pressing Than Great Britain's, He Says

London, Feb. 14—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee sought with his "coal cabinet" tonight to fix an approximate date for ending Britain's distastrous industrial shutdown, and a government spokesman announced there were signs that the nation had "turned the corner" in the crisis.

At the same time the prime minister declined with thanks President Truman's offer to divert Europe-bound coal to British ports, saying the need on the continent was no less great.

The coal cabinet conference was the first indication for the island's 49,000,000 shivering and browned-out inhabitants that the end of the cruel crisis might be in sight.

As drastic electricity restrictions were maintained into the fifth day, government sources said the return to normal might be gradual. A source close to the prime minister's office said an important statement on the situation probably would be issued tonight.

However, with only slight gains registered in coal stocks at power stations, the British gas council alerted the country's 1,100 gas plants to be ready to shut off gas supplies to non-essential industries.

Offer "Impractical"?

B. P. Aicard, secretary general of the European Coal Organization, said the president's "very generous" offer might prove impractical at the present time. The president suggested yesterday that coal ships now enroute to continental countries be diverted to Britain.

Aicard estimated that 500,000 tons of coal were on the way to Europe at the moment, but said this amount was but a small fraction of Britain's needs.

The special nine-min "coal cabinet" headed by Attlee, scheduled a meeting with gas company executives today to discuss the problem.

The Labor party organ, the Daily Herald, proclaimed in front page headlines that a gas cut was likely in a few days.

Attlee reported to Parliament yesterday that the coal situation was "still critical despite the breaking of the snow and ice blockade by ships and trains carrying fuel to London and other metropolitan areas."

78,000 Tons of Coal Saved

Attlee told the House of Commons that 78,000 tons of coal had been saved as a result of the first three days' restrictions on electricity. Since Monday factories in a 38-county industrial area of England and Wales have been shut down. Householders in that area have been forbidden to use any hours in each day. The latter electric power during five daylight ban was extended yesterday to all of England, Scotland and Wales.

Authorities reported, however, that compliance with the house-

"Fence" May Have Some Hesse Jewels

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—New evidence was received in the Hesse jewel theft case today pointing toward the possibility that the Chicago underworld obtained and may still possess part of the $1,500,000 fortune.

It came in testimony from Dr. Lemoine Snyder, medical-legal director of the Michigan state police, at the trial of Col. Jack W. Durant, accused looter of the Hesse family's Kronberg, Germany, castle.

Snyder backed up the story of earlier witnesses that Durant, while in custody of Army investigators in Chicago, arranged by telephone for a "fence" to leave some of the gems in a railroad station package lockbox.

When the package was recovered and opened, he said, Durant maintained the "fence" had not returned all the diamonds and emeralds.

The Army criminal investigation division says a portion of the jewels taken from the Hesse castle never has been located.

The name of the "fence" has not been disclosed.

Durant, a former Washington attorney, is charged specifically with violating three articles of war, including one against larceny.

His wife, former WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash, is serving a five-year term after her conviction of conspiracy in the case at a separate military trial.

Both were on duty at the castle, which was used as an Army rest center, when the jewels were stolen in 1945.

Big Presidential Candidate Field is Singing Old Tune

All Candidates Thought Close Refuse to Step Definitely Into Field

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP) — The shy little tune you hear is the song of the possible presidential candidates. It goes:

I didn't say I wouldn't run.
I didn't say I would.
I mean I've only just begun.
To hope that, yes, I could.

A lot of Republicans would like to get their mail at the White House for four years after 1948.

But none of them yet has been caught saying so, except Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor.

(On the Democratic side President Truman isn't saying what he'll do in 1948 although it's been said for him.)

Stassen is the only Republican who so far has walked out on the chilly, lonely limb and said publicly "I'm a candidate." He said it Dec. 17.

Dewey Noncommittal

The next day Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York had five words to say on the subject.

(He was Republican candidate in 1944 and there's no widespread feeling he'd snub the chance again if he got it in 1948.)

A reporter asked him: "Governor, are you ready to announce your candidacy for president?"

"Certainly not." Dewey said.

"Certainly not ready?"

Dewey said: "Certainly not. Period."

Dewey wasn't shuddering at the thought of being president. He may say a little more before 1948.

Quite a silence settled upon the Republicans after that. It was broken Feb. 8 by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan. He said:

"I am not a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. I don't expect to be and I have no wish to be.

"But a man would be entirely numb if he were insensible to the compliment the suggestion implies."

Taft Voices Teaser

But a statement by Senator Taft of Ohio yesterday really set people scratching their heads to see if two negatives make a positive.

He said: "I don't intend to deny that I'm not to be a candidate but again I might not be a candidate."

Meanwhile, Senator Bricker, also of Ohio, was expected to say yesterday that definitely he is not a candidate. But he didn't. Instead, he said he has made no commitments.

Truman Evades Point

The Democratic chairman, Robert E. Hannegan, postmaster general, went up to New York a few days ago and said:

President Truman's hat is in the ring. He'll be the Democratic candidate for president in 1948.

Mr. Truman knew he was going to be asked about that at his news conference yesterday.

He was asked. He had a statement all ready and he read from it. He didn't mention Hannegan or, directly, what Hannegan said.

He didn't say "Yes" and he didn't say "no" about being a candidate in 1948. He didn't say anything about being a candidate at all.

He just said he wanted to try to do a good job as president.

So far General George C. Marshall—who hasn't been claimed by the Republicans or the Democrats, although he's the new secretary of state—has made the only positive statement against presidential candidacy.

He said he can't be considered a candidate for political office and that he never could be drafted for one.

Junior Red Cross Meeting Scheduled in Oregon Monday

(Telegraph Special Service)

Oregon—There will be an all-day meeting for Junior Red Cross chairmen from Dixon, Sterling Morrison, Savanna, Freeport, Galena and Oregon chapters in the Red Cross rooms here Monday, beginning at 9 a. m.

Miss Cook, Junior Red Cross representative from St. Louis, will be here to discuss various aspects of the work.

The meeting will also include a school of instruction. Any one who would like to assist in this work are welcome to attend.

A degree staff of the local Rebekah order will meet Monday night at 7:30 to practice for initiation of two new members at their regular meeting Tuesday night, Feb. 18. A scramble lunch will follow.

The sophomore class of Oregon Community high school will sponsor a Valentine party and dance in the school gym Saturday night.

Edward Gebhardt, industrial arts teacher of the high school, and family are occupying the lower apartment and the Bud Goodwins, the upper apartment in the South Sixth street residence which the National Bible Institution purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Corcoran.

Miss Gertrude Cann was hostess Wednesday night to the bridge club of teachers of which she is a member.

Mrs. G. C. Wrenn of Chana is a medical patient at the local clinic.

George Smith student at Missouri State University at Columbia was home for a brief vacation between semesters last week end.

Robert L Speed has returned home after receiving his honorable discharge following six years service in the U. S. Navy.

Newton Man Back in Jail in Wife Murder

Newton, Ill., Feb. 14—(AP) — Homer Wilson, 29, charged with murder in the death of his wife, Laverne, was returned to the Jasper county jail here last night following his release from an Effingham hospital.

Wilson had been undergoing treatment for burns which he said were suffered when he attempted to rescue his wife from a burning barn at their farm home near Oblong Feb. 3.

State's Attorney J. A. Eaton filed a murder charge against Wilson after an autopsy disclosed the body of the 23-year-old Mrs. Wilson bore throat and skull wounds, a mangled left leg and that her forearms were missing.

Better Life Seen For Bossy With Latest Inventions

Chicago, Feb. 14—(AP)—Old Bossy and her pal Ferdinand never had it so good—and it's getting better all the time. The end of the war opened up a whole array of new gadgets to make their living conditions better.

On many a farm their dairy barn home is becoming electrically heated, ventilated, and cleaned. Their food is served up to them electrically. They even can have an electrical drinking fountain to assure them fresh, temperature-controlled water regardless of the weather.

Lightens Labor Load

Of course, the real reason behind the new deal for dairy herds is to lighten the labor of the farmer. A new dairy barn cleaner, powered by electricity, can clean the average barn in 10 to 15 minutes. Done by hand the same job would take 1½ to two hours.

Time-labor surveys on farms have revealed 75 per cent of farming time is expended in chores and other routine work around the farm buildings, while only 25 per cent is spent in the field work. To reduce their average 65-hour work week, farmers are turning more and more to electrical power for help, say government rural electrification experts.

They estimate there still are about 3,500,000 rural homes without electricity. The estimates are that there is a calculated demand backlog of $5,000,000,000 for new electrical farm appliances and the power lines and equipment necessary to energize them.

List Many Items

That backlog for farms with dairy cows includes such items as:

An electrically driven silo unloader. No longer must the farmer climb up into the silo twice a day to throw down silage to his cattle. The unloader does the job either from the top or the bottom of the silo.

A milking machine for small herds which will be practical for as few as five cows

A home-size milk pasteurizer and one for the producer-retailer of 25 to 200 quarts a day.

Ultra-violet ray sterilizers for milk cans is another addition.

There even is an electrically charged fly screen which helps to save wear and tear on old Bossy's tail—and keeps it out of the milker's face.

Moscow Talk Has Slight Chance Now To Be Successful

Preliminary Talks Fail In London; Russ Try to Cut Writers

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Unless something happens, the foreign ministers will meet at Moscow March 10 with even less hope of concrete results than when the conference was first scheduled.

For one thing, they are going to have to do themselves a great part of the spadework usually performed at lower levels.

The expected recommendations on the German peace from the four power administrators in Berlin apparently will be no recommendations at all, consisting primarily of an innocuous report on the history of the occupation. Negotiations there have fallen to the stage where the lie is being passed, and instead of a real report to the council, each delegation will be reporting home blaming the others.

London Talks Fail

The situation in the deputy foreign ministers meeting at London is similar with regard to progress and only slightly more polite. With one more week to run, the deputies haven't even been able to make up a good catalog of the points where they disagree.

They started out with the idea of drawing up a peace for Austria and arriving at recommendations on Germany, but apparently will close without succeeding in either.

The situation is further clouded by the dispute over press coverage in Moscow. When the United States agreed to the Russian capital as the site it was with assurance from Molotov that correspondents would be able to report from Moscow just as from Paris or New York.

Housing Shortage?

Now the Russians are requesting that press delegations be restricted to a fraction of those accustomed to attend in the other cities. They give their housing shortage as an excuse. Anyone accepting this, of course, would be entitled to draw the conclusion that if Russia cannot house a few hundred people for such a meeting she is not the power which her diplomats would have us believe. Actually, of course, Russians just feel unhappy under the searching eyes of foreigners. It is one of their Asiatic qualites which plays an important part in all of their international relationships.

Obvious Russian attempts to impress the Germans with their solicitude for Germany at the expense of the other occupying powers also throws a shadow across the path of the council meeting.

To offset this, the Americans have been issuing reports about how the Germans hate the Russians, the unhappiness over political and economic conditions in the Russian occupation zone, and the like.

Red Plan Thwarted

Behind it all lies the apparent fact that Russia has been thwarted in her political program in Germany, and that she has no intention of seeing a German government established until it on the "right side, which to Russia means the left.

While democracy hasn't made much progress in Germany, communism has received no welcome at all and the Russians can have no hope of success any time soon.

This ideological conflict involves many complicated economic factors, too, and coupled with the fear that one side or the other intends to make use of Germany's military potential, will offer a major hurdle at Moscow.

Even with the very best of spirit all round the Moscow meeting could hardly have been expected to do more than lay a foundation. The question now is whether even that can be made anyways solid.

Get Your Valentine Before Midnight or Suffer, Boyle Says

Warns Husbands Against Marital Crises Over Lack of Gift

By HAL BOYLE

New York, Feb. 14—(AP)—This is the last bulletin from the international husband-warning service:

"Get that valentine for your wife before midnight."

Otherwise by tomorrow your hausfrau will be singing you—over and over like a broken record—that little martial ditty entitled "Why Did I Ever Give Up Elmer To Marry You?"

Don't make the mistake of a young husband who told his weeping bride the day after valentine:

"Of course I didn't get you anything for valentine. That's a single girl's racket."

It Rebounds Annually

This remark has been bounced back at him annually like a tennis ball for 10 years. The only thing a husband can do worse than overlooking valentine is to excuse himself from his wedding reception in order to play golf with some bachelor friends.

We have done some research on the question of valentine presents and found that the girls are weary of what one called "those pratt fall valentines"—a phrase that wasn't in the feminine vocabulary in our own youth.

This year, most said, they wanted something sentimental—"with hearts and roses and lace and satin, and maybe candy inside."

It Works One Way

On the other hand one admitted frankly:

"Candy you can get anytime. Mercenary—that's me. I want something made of mink or that drips diamonds on your wrist."

As to whether they should send valentines themselves, the girls were divided.

"We send cards, the boys give presents," said one.

"When you're a kid you send him a present anonymously," said another, "but when you grow up you mail him a card and let it go at that."

Married men agreed the chances were three to one against getting a return valentine from their wives.

Odd Presents This Year

"I give mine a card: If I get a kind word back, it's a lucky year," summed up one disgruntled husband.

There are some odd presents going around this valentine. One uncle is paying the doctor bill for his niece who sprained her ankle skiing. A bachelor lady we know is giving her cat a beef heart. Another is giving her beau a book on birds—something the cat might like too.

A husband who has a place in the country is presenting his wife with a load of manure. She has a garden, and he feels sure she won't misunderstand. He got a wheelbarrow from her last Christmas himself.

A misanthrope married 24 years said he had never given anybody anything for valentine.

Valentine to Vets

"My wife keeps the money," he shrugged. "I can't buy her anything."

Everybody likes to get a valentine. It's a good time to remember the people you are grateful to. So here is our valentine to the ones we feel we owe the most:

To 14,000,000 veterans
May you fight as well in peace
As you ever fought in war.
There are goals to bring you gladness,
Goals to gird your courage for.
Forget the folk ungrateful,
Hold your standard, keep your line—
While America has conscience
You're the national valentine!

Gunman Gets $150 and Leaps Off Galva Train

Galesburg, Ill., Feb. 14 — (AP) —Police today sought a tattooed gunman in overalls who held up Myron Hilton Dray, 25, of Keokuk, Ia., on a Burlington railroad train during Wednesday night, and escaped with a billfold and $150.

Dray said the robber, tattooed on the backs of both hands, robbed him as the train was moving south out of Galva, Ill., and then jumped from the moving train near Galva city limits.

A Thought for Today

But Thou art a God ready to pardon, gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and forsookest them not.—Nehemiah 9:17.

When all Thy mercies, O my God,
My rising soul surveys,
Transported with the view I'm lost,
In wonder, love and praise.

Protection

When government attempts to dominate prices, the end result is likely to prove costly to the consumer. By the same token, one of the most dependable protectors of the consumer is our competitive, low-cost retailing system.

An example of both of these truisms can now be found in Oregon. Many years ago, an Oregon milk control board was established, with the primary objective of assuring producers a fair price for their milk.

At the same time, the board was vested with certain authority to fix the retail selling price for milk. This seemed sound, as retail prices and wholesale prices bear a definite relationship to each other. However, under the board's rulings, all retail milk prices are largely determined by the cost of doorstep delivery — which is the most costly means of milk distribution. It has, therefore, been impossible for stores that so desire, to pass onto the consumer all the savings that result from cash-and-carry sales of milk.

To illustrate how progressive retailers work for the consumer as a matter of good business for themselves, take one of the country's large food chains, which has many Oregon outlets. According to its advertisements, it can sell milk for 1½ cents a quart less than doorstep distributors, without cutting the farmers' price. It is in the ridiculous position of having to beg a state board for the right to serve the public at the lowest possible prices. It asks a reasonable question when it says, "Why should the cash-and-carry buyer have to pay delivery costs for a service he does not desire and does not receive?".

There is a moral here for all states. When government enters into price-fixing, the consumer must be continually on his toes if his interests are to be protected. And the lowest prices result from open competition, free of artificial restraints and arbitrary rulings.

TAXATION AND MONOPOLY

When congress finally gets down to cases on what is to be done about government expenditures, the national debt, and taxation, it should look squarely at this grim fact: the small and medium-sized enterprise is taking the worst beating under present tax policy.

The big business, with reserves of capital built up over many years, is better able to look out for itself. But the small business, with its current tax burdens, cannot obtain and keep the wherewithal necessary to rapid expansion. Money that, in past times, would have gone for new plants, new developments, new employment, now goes to the tax collector.

Senator Cordon of Oregon put the issue well when he said that, once we make it impossible for the small concern to progress and reach its proper place in the economic sun, we are paving the way for monopoly. And monopoly is the surest road known to socialism—with its destruction of all traditional American freedoms.

The tax structure must be revised to permit all enterprise to grow, to compete, and to become big if it has the capabilities. That is the way this nation was built. That is the way we became the world's greatest and richest power in a century and a half. A tax system which says, in effect, "small business must remain small," will prove ruinous to all.

Skeptical pupil: "A fish, from the time my Daddy lands it till he tells about it at our next party."

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyrght, 1947, King Features, Inc

Difference of opinion sustains horse-racing, craps, political machines and the honorable profession of arms, but it's nice to be able to disagree in an objective, intellectual and impersonal way which is the quality of my dissent from some of the principles of Harold L. Ickes. I have in mind Mr. Ickes' courageous scrupulosity, a scruple being the smallest unit of weight or a Roman coin worth, by some theoretical rate of exchange, about three farthings, in charging the estate of his late wife, Anna Wilmarth Ickes, a rich heiress, for certain items which others might never have thought to regard as business matters in such circumstances. The information about the scruple comes from my dictionary as I find it practical not to clutter my wonderful brain with such data.

Now it is true that Mr. Ickes has described himself as a curmudgeon and that the same dictionary defines a curmudgeon as an avaricious fellow, niggard and miser, which all mean about the same thing. He therefore invites a belief that avarice, as much as any other consideration, was his motive in charging such items as are stated in the papers in the estate of the late Mrs. Ickes in the probate court of Cook county, in Chicago. That invitation I do not reject, for Mr. Ickes surely knows himself. There is a little greed in most of us and yet, I say it takes a strong, if not wholly admirable devotion to one's principles to set down as items of chargeable expense against the estate of one's deceased wife the matters under consideration. An equally avaricious but less resolute man might have waived them out of fear, if not respect, for the opinions of an other-minded element of his fellow men.

Some years ago, Charles MacArthur wrote a whimsey for Vanity Fair, edited by Frank Crowninshield, assisted by Clare Booth Luce, about a man named Louse-House Sprout, who was at a party when his grown daughter called and told him that his wife had "ate" a pound of peanut brittle and swelled up and died. The daughter told Mr. Sprout that decedent had carried a secret life insurance policy and, on learning about this, he authorized the undertaker to "give her the works," as he put it, sparing no expense. That was the title of the story, "Give Her the Works." It was a fiction story absolutely and any resemblance to any person's living or dead or to any actual occurrences, was, in the well-known formula, purely coincidental.

Those of us who have been spared the unhappy necessity of making conscientious decisions in comparable crises may be thankful for guidance from a man who, for more than 12 years was the keeper of the conscience of the greatest moral reformation in the history of this nation and whose conduct therefore may be accepted as the standard by all who find it compatible with their feelings.

Under disbursements for the expenses of the funeral of Mrs. Ickes, her bereft husband listed his own "expenses, Washington to Chicago and return as $109.42." We learn from the documents that a charge of $1.68 was made against the estate as an item of "funeral expense" for a telegram, described as follows in a notation on the bill: "Robert Ickes, advising of mother's death."

The bill from London's Flower shop, 1712 Sherman ave., Evanston, Ill., is addressed to "Mr. H. L. Ickes, 900 South Private Road, Hubbard Woods, Ill.," and reads, "Sept. A/C Rend, $66, tax $1.98," the total being $67.98 and is stamped and marked "paid" Feb. 15, 2936. Mrs. Ickes lost her life in an automobile accident in August, 1935, and, as Mr. Ickes informs the court in one of the documents, her will provided that "all of the residuary estate shall be delivered to the undersigned."

Not in morbid contemplation of sadness that may befall but for guidance according to the highest public example of our time, we may note, if we like, that the "disbursements, funeral expenses," included an item of $6.30 paid to the Chicago Tribune, for "notices" upon which I make no comment, three items of $24.37, $24.10, and $12.40, respectively, for long distance calls, "Walter Hancock, quartette, $150." "Harris and Ewing, photos, $30," and "monument and marker, $1,000."

Now, not all of us may know that, or care whether, flowers are legitimately chargeable as a funeral expense of a beloved decedent, or the fees to the clergyman and the singers or some of these other items. But any difference of opinion on that score must be argued in terms of personal feeling, taste and delicacy, without challenge to Mr. Ickes on grounds of law or propriety. That which is legal, and Mr. Ickes is a lawyer, is also proper and if all such allowable charges against an estate are set aside in the calculation of the inheritance and estate taxes there might be some of us who, in the emotional confusion of a sad hour, have unwittingly paid more than our actual due, not that that would matter to all so concerned.

It seems to me that in this matter and in the matters of Mr. Ickes' occupation of properties maintained by the taxpayers during his summer vacations, we are given a key to the new and finer code of human conduct as practiced, though not ostentatiously, and never publicly promulgated in such detail, by those who have called themselves liberals and criticized others for contrary practices. I may be too severe on us who did not stand in the light of the new revelation with him and his fellow reformers.

Perhaps Mr. Ickes will permit us to call him a practical liberal out of respect for his scrupulosity and his regard for his rights as well as his obligations under law. I trust that the heirs of the late Mr. Roosevelt will let us regard them too, as practical liberals, in view of the question raised by his estate with the New York state tax commission whether, as commander-in-chief, he could be considered to have died on active service in the armed forces. The answer was negative, but had it been otherwise the estate might have saved a few honest dollars in income tax exemption.

There are some among us, captious souls, you may say, who have wished that they had all been as practical in their liberality with the people's money when they had it to do.

"How Can You Help Prevent War?"

Americans generally had very specific ideas on how they, as individuals, could do their bit for the war effort. But nearly two-thirds of them can think of no way in which they can do their bit toward eliminating future war, according to a recent survey made by Denver University's National Opinion Research Center. As Newschart above shows, 64 per cent answered "No" when asked if they could think of anything that they, personally, could do to help prevent another war. The suggestions offered by the 36 per cent who answered "Yes" are shown at right.

Police Hunt Husband In Murder of Woman

Columbus, Ind., Feb. 14—(AP)—Police in three states hunted today for a 40-year-old retired electrical contractor who is wanted, Sheriff Richard Thayer said, for questioning in connection with the slaying of his divorced wife.

As authorities in Indiana, Kentucky and Missouri searched for David Edman, Sr., sheriff's officials here questioned his 17 year old son, David, Jr., in an effort to determine his father's whereabouts.

Mrs. Ruth Clark Edman, 38, was killed yesterday by a shotgun blast at the home of her father, Nathan Clark, 69, at nearby Ogilville. Sheriff Thayer said that Clark, who suffered wounds in the arm and shoulders, told him Edman shot and fatally wounded his daughter when she opened the door to his insistent knocking.

Thayer said the Edmans' son told him he drove his father to Evansville, Ind., yesterday, bought him a railroad ticket to St. Louis, and left him there.

Busbey Says Some USES People Are Communists

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—Rep. Fred E. Busbey (R-Ill) told the house yesterday that he has evidence indicating some employes of the U. S. Employment service are Communists or have Communist leanings and urged a "thorough investigation."

Busbey asked that the investigation be conducted by the civil service commission and the Federal Bureau of Investigation and suggested also that the Tennessee Valley Authority be "screened from top to bottom."

A challenge to Busbey's speech came from Rep. Hollifield (D-Calif) who denounced what he called the making of charges of disloyalty without actual proof.

A Small World

Chicago — (AP)—Two Chinese girls, unable to speak English, became lost last night while enroute to their home in suburban Oak Park.

The girls, Helen Fong, 19, and Mary, 18, wandered aimlessly about the west side before they met an elderly woman who succeeded in learning of their plight.

She took them to a nearby Chinese laundry. The owner, the girls learned, was their cousin, Jim Fong.

Less than 10 per cent of the blind people in the United States are under 20 years old.

Wife Faces Prison for Holding Rival Captive

Los Angeles, Feb. 14—(AP)—For seizing and holding prisoner a bookkeeper she accused of keeping company with her husband, Mrs. Marie Innes today faced a prison term of one to 10 years.

The state charged that Mrs. Innes, 36, and two men seized Frances Oleta Harris, 22-year-old bookkeeper, held and threatened her for 11 hours last Dec. 7, accusing her of going out with George Innes, 38, hotel supplies broker. The Inneses have a divorce action pending, in which the wife names Miss Harris as co-respondent.

Love Has Two Faces

By Irene Lonnen Emhort · Copyright, 1947, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Parker gets a job playing the piano at a radio station in Indianapolis. He wants Cassie to quit her job and take an apartment there. Cassie thinks this should wait a while. Parker accuses her of having no faith in him.

XXIII

"DARLING, I think it's wonderful about the job," Cassie said. "I can see that it would be just what you'd like. And I am happy about it. I don't know why I always have to look at the practical side of things. I guess I've had Mama and Papa and Sid and Leni on my mind so long that—"

"You're right, of course," Parker answered.

They began to eat, silently. Cassie could hardly force the heavy spaghetti down, and kept drinking wine until she began to feel giddy.

"Parker, why do you have to live in Indianapolis anyway. Couldn't you commute?"

"Well—I suppose I could. That's probably what I will do," Parker said after a moment. "Leni could be of more help to me that way, too. Leni's a pretty smart kid. She really learned the ropes in New York—I mean about the music game."

Leni had learned a few other ropes in New York, too.

"Poor Leni," Cassie said.

"Oh, don't always be saying 'poor Leni'! As if she were some poor lost soul!" Parker said impatiently. "At least Leni knows what she wants, and goes after it. Darn it! You're so cautious, Cassie, and so careful and conscientious about everything! Don't you ever gamble on anything!"

Cassie tried to smile.

"Leni and I are a good deal different I guess, in a lot of ways." If she had taken a gamble on Mike and thrown everything overboard and gone with him when he had wanted her to, she thought, she wouldn't be here. And the family would have survived somehow.

She began to sniffle a little, thinking about Mike, because she was a trifle tipsy.

"That's right," Parker said suddenly. "Go ahead and bawl. You're so self-sufficient. You always know what's best!"

"I'm not crying over you!" she cried. She felt smotheringly hot from the wine, and miserable thinking of Mike. "I'm still in love with him," she told herself with a wrench of self-pity, "still in love with Mike after all this time."

"I SUPPOSE you're wishing you'd married Mike Cargill!" She stared at him stupidly.

"You're always thinking about him. I can always tell, Cassie, when that look comes over your face."

Parker was a little drunk too.

"Oh, I know," he waved his hand at her, "you've done a swell job of pretending, but all the time, ever since we've been married, you keep thinking of him. Lord almighty, Cass, I used to see that look come over your face when I kissed you sometimes."

"Hush!"

"Well, all right! This is it! I'll go to Indianapolis alone, if that's what you want me to do, and you can see a lawyer!"

"Shh—Parker, people are looking—"

"Well c'mon then. Let's get out of here and settle this once and for all!"

Cassie followed him out. He strode ahead of her angrily. She felt dizzy now and on the verge of nausea, and she felt mad, too.

In the car he started the motor with a roar and shifted gears with a grinding sound as he spun the car out of the gravel drive.

"Parker, you don't mean you want me to—that you want a—"

"A divorce? Why not?"

Lights went by swiftly. Cassie had a sense of unreality, as though this were all some hideous nightmare.

She remembered what he had said back in the Italian place, "Lord almighty, Cass, I used to see that look come over your face sometimes when I kissed you." It was true. She had thought of Mike sometimes while Parker was kissing her.

"Well, if you really want a divorce, Parker," she said. "Only—" Only what? Only it had never occurred to her that their marriage would ever end like this?

"I didn't say that was what I wanted!" His voice was grim, unyielding. "All I asked was that you come to Indianapolis with me. That's all. You refused to give up your job and come."

They had reached the farm and he parked the car.

"It's really quite simple, Cassie. Quite simple. We can't go on as we have the past months, you know."

* * *

THAT was true. Neither of them had been happy. Not since Ellen died. Even before that. But it hadn't been because she hadn't tried. Or had it. Her head began to ache, a slow throbbing pain, and she couldn't think.

She got out of the car and went into the house, and upstairs to the room, their room. She got her night things out of the chest of drawers and then went into the hall again and knocked on Leni's door.

"Come in."

Leni was reading in bed. She yawned and looked up.

Her bright hair, brushed now, gleamed about her small face. The light from the bed lamp lit up the smooth, firm contours of her small, beautiful features.

"What cooks now?"

There was mockery in the words, and a mocking look in the blue eyes.

Leni was well again. Cassie thought between the dull throbs of her headache. Maybe Parker—maybe that was it—the way they were always together—always laughing secretly! She brushed the thought away furiously.

"You don't mind if I sleep with you tonight, Leni, do you? Parker and I quarreled."

"I don't care," Leni muttered.

Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood— (AP) — Margaret O'Brien, who as been a movie actress as long as she can remember, may retire from the screen in October, 1949. That's when she and MGM have the option of renewing her current three-year contract.

As present plans shape up, Margaret will not attempt to bridge the "awkward age" of child stars. In the fall of 1949 her mother hopes to enroll her in a Convent for three years. Maggie would be 16 upon graduation and at that time would decide whether she wanted to resume her film career.

Bob Hope's western, "Pale Face" has been moved from April to September so Rapid Robert can get a good rest after "Road to Rio". He'll take his radio show to Palm Springs and then to Tucson, Ariz., where he'll train with his Cleveland Indians. Then he'll take his family abroad for the summer.

Mae West is back in town with a wheezing bit of theatrical claptrap called "Come On Up". The Jane Russell of the '30's managed to squeeze a lot of laughs out of the first-nighters who included Evie and Van Johnson on their first night out as husband and wife.

James Stewart and Henry Fonda are working for Producer Burgess Meredith on "A Miracle Can Happen", but there isn't any rank pulled between them. They were all roommates in their less pecunious stage days. Jimmy tells me he'll take a two-month rest after this stint. Hank says he has "Chicken Every Sunday" and another do for 20th-Fox, and then he'll free-lance completely. "It's the only way to operate when you're in a position where the studios come to you with deals", he opines.

World Day of Prayer—

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14—(AP)—(AP)—Gov. Dwight H. Green today called attention to observance of Feb. 21 as a World Day of Prayer.

Wild Ducks Sighted—

Gerald Noble reported to the Telegraph today, having observed a flock of wild ducks flying north, which was taken as a mild hint that spring might not be too far in the offing.

Foot Is Amputated—

Robert Howell of Dixon, who for several months has been a resident of the Linton nursing home in Sterling, submitted to an operation for the removal of one of his feet early this week at the Sterling hospital. Infection developed which necessitated the amputation of the foot.

Bonus Rehearing Sought—

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14—(AP)—Rehearing of the Illinois Supreme Court's January decision upholding constitutionality of the $385,000,000 state soldier bonus program was sought today in a petition filed by 12 Chicago World War II veterans.

Damage Suit in Ogle Co.—

Seeking to recover for damages allegedly suffered in a car-truck collision Oct. 21 on route 2 south of Oregon, Robert Tate has filed suit for $1,000 damages in Ogle county Circuit court, naming the Knox Motor Service, Inc., and Harvey White, an employe of the firm, as defendants, it was revealed yesterday.

Moves Family to Dixon—

L. W. Sutherland, assistant manager of the Dixon Montgomery Ward & Company store, has moved to Dixon with his wife and seven-year-old son Lowell. While looking for a place to live, they are at the Hotel Nachusa. Sutherland was with Montgomery Ward in Madison, Wis., before coming to Dixon.

New Conservation Aide—

Jack Stacey, formerly with the U.S.D.A. grain branch in Chicago, reported for duty at the Lee county soil conservation office in Amboy, Monday Feb. 10th. Stacey will be an assistant to Ray Lane the local soil conservationist. This position was formerly held by Donald F. Meyers, who resigned in January to study photography at a state college in Luffock, Tex.

Lions to Entertain Scouts—

The Dixon Lions club will be hosts to about 250 Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts this evening at an entertainment to be held at the Loveland Community House. The program is scheduled to begin promptly at 7:30 when a professional magician from Chicago will entertain. This will be followed by the serving of refreshments to members of all Scout troops of Dixon and the troop from the Dixon state hospital. The program sponsored by the Lions club is in observance of the National Boy Scout Week.

will boost rates mainly on higher-priced rooms and luxury suites.

Weighing against general increases, Ryan continued, is the fact that hotels count on food and bar sales for much of their income. Large rent increases, he noted, might cut down the present high rate of occupancy and thus reduce these sales.

Process "Hardship" Cases

In addition to handling the transient room decontrol applications, OPA's 649 branch offices will begin processing tomorrow applications of rental housing owners for rent increases under revised "hardship" regulations.

These regulations permit increases in "hardship" cases where the boosts will not raise individual rents above ceilings fixed for comparable dwellings in the area.

AFL President William Green told a senate banking subcommittee yesterday any blanket increase in rents, such as the group is considering, might lead to new strikes.

He urged that present rent controls be continued until June 30, 1948.

Caterpillar Workers Retain Present Union

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Employes at the Caterpillar Tractor Co. decided in an election last night to retain the CIO United Farm Equipment & Metal Workers of America as bargaining agent. The present company-union contract ends today.

The CIO group, which has conducted labor contract negotiations since 1941 requested the National Labor Relations board election.

The company had expressed its inability to determine whether the CIO union or the AFL United Auto Workers should negotiate the new contract.

More than 20,000 persons are employed at the tractor plant.

Morgenthau Agrees To Allow Treasury Peep at Documents

Ends Diary Quibble With Sec. Snyder; Some 900 Volumes Involved

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The case of the Morgenthau diary ended on an amicable note today—an agreement by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., to let treasury officials winnow through papers he accumulated during 12 years as the department's secretary.

Secretary Snyder said examination of the diary will determine "to what extent the materials contained in it are needed to complete the official department records as to official matters."

It will involve a scrutiny of more than 900 volumes containing something like 60,000,000 words.

"This is entirely agreeable to Morgenthau, whose integrity and good faith have never been questioned," Snyder said in his announcement last night.

Morgenthau said the main reason he assembled the papers was to comply with a request by the late President Roosevelt that his cabinet officers supply such material for the Franklin D. Roosevelt library, part of the national archives.

Profits to Mrs. F. D. R.

He added he had no intention to make money out of anything he might write of his experiences in the cabinet. Any profits from such works, Morgenthau said, will go to a foundation for world peace, of which Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is president. This was done, Morgenthau said, with his book, "Germany Is Our Problem!"

When Snyder made public his original demand for a look at the Morgenthau papers three weeks ago he told a news conference "all we want is documents needed for the files of the treasury department."

Excerpts from such notes made public last Dec. 30 included some fairly lively reading, such as a statement that President Roosevelt once hiked the price of gold 21 cents an ounce with the remark "it's a lucky number because it's three times seven."

Attlee Turns Down

hold ban was still "not so good" despite threats of heavy penalties.

Thirty-seven coal ships carrying more than 60,000 tons of coal beat their way through icy channel gales to London yesterday and the movement of snowbound coal trains in northern England and the midlands was speeded by the labor of thousands of railway workers, soldiers and German prisoners working around the clock.

Collier Reported Missing

One collier, identified as the 642-ton Ary, of Panaman registry, was reported to have foundered and sunk off the Irish coast while carrying coal from Wales to Eire. Sixteen of her 17 crew members were reported missing.

The virtual wartime blackout of street lights went into effect last night.

Freezing weather continued to grip most of Britain and Viscount Addison, government leader in the House of Lords, informed Parliament last night that it was impossible to forecast when the power restrictions would be lifted.

Addison defended the government against Conservative charges of coal mismanagement, raised during a House of Lords debate marked by sturdy opposition demands that Emanuel Shinwell be ousted as fuel and power minister.

Shinwell Defended

Shinwell was defended by the National Union of Mineworkers, whose executive committee issued a statement rapping "attempts that are being made by enemies of labor to exploit this situation."

Possibilities of more new restrictions—in clothing and food rations—were suggested by other cabinet ministers last night.

Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, said that as a result of lost clothing production during the emergency ration coupons to be issued March 1 for the usual six-month period "may have to last for seven months, possibly longer."

Food minister John Strachey told the cabinet yesterday, informed sources said, that the disruption of transport might cause difficulty in re-stocking retailers within six weeks, when the current food ration period ends.

British banks ran out of small coins for regular dealings because the power shutdown stopped operations at the mint. The Archbishop of Canterbury was furious because he had been asked to set aside a "fuel and power Sunday" for special prayers.

"It makes me furious sometimes when people assume that nobody can pray for anybody unless they are told to do so by an archbishop," he said.

cago and others at Sterling, Moline, Peoria, Quincy, Mt. Vernon and East St. Louis, will be mustered out simultaneously with the infantry troops. Planes used by the squadrons are privately owned.

Big Personnel Turnover

Made up of volunteers between the ages of 18 and 55, the militia reached a peak strength of 7,000 in 1942.

A heavy personnel turnover which saw nearly 30,000 officers and enlisted men pass through the organization's ranks in its six years of existence was caused to a considerable extent by the drafting into the army and navy of younger men, Boyle said.

"Those persons who voluntarily served in the militia during the crucial war years with pay only for emergency service demonstrated the highest sense of civic responsibility," he declared.

"All citizens of the state owe a debt of gratitude for the sacrifice of those who freely assumed and faithfully discharged this important duty."

The most recent occasion when militia units were called out was the flood in St. Clair county last August. Ninety-five officers and men were assigned a 10 day mission.

Gave Good Service

Organized in February, 1941, just before induction into federal service of the National Guard's 33rd Infantry division, the militia first was utilized shortly after declaration of war against Germany and Japan.

Governor Green ordered seven companies to guard strategic Mississippi river bridges near Savanna, Rock Island, Quincy and Cairo, Ill., Burlington and Dubuque, Ia., and Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Subsequently, units saw duty in train wrecks, floods, tornadoes and in the Chicago transportation emergency of December, 1945, when nearly 800 men were pressed into service four days shuttling returning soldiers and sailors between railroad stations.

The militia's greatest tests came in the floods of 1943 and 1944. Militiamen drew particular praise for their work with U. S. Army and Coast guard troops at Beardstown during May and June of 1943 in saving the city from threatened disaster.

Vandals Rip Fixtures of Church in Peoria

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 14—(AP)—The Hale Memorial Methodist church suffered extensive damages last night when vandals entered the building, tipped over the pulpit, broke off the U. S. and church flag staffs, and broke furniture in the basement rooms.

William I. Lewis, janitor, discovered the damage when he entered the building to tend the furnace.

The dishes, bookcases, chairs and piano in the basement were either broken or in disarray, and hymnals were strewn over the church auditorium floor.

The Rev. Fred D. Menze, pastor, could not be reached immediately to estimate the losses.

Greer Garson, Ney to Part After Four Years

Hollywood, Feb. 14—(AP)—Film Star Greer Garson and Richard Ney, the young actor she married in 1943 when he was a naval ensign, have parted.

"The decision was hard to reach," she said, "but we consider it best. We have had our problems and our difficulties."

Her studio (M-G-M) said Miss Garson was leaving Hollywood and wouldn't return for several months. Her destination was not disclosed.

In 1941 she divorced her first husband, Edward Alec Abbott, British civil employe. When she married Ney she gave her age as 31 and he his as 29.

Jane Ann Howe Is Leading Baby Vote

First returns in the contest to choose the most popular baby in Dixon, being sponsored here by the Lions club in connection with its three-act production, "Cornzapoppin'," scheduled for the high school auditorium Feb. 21-22, is Jane Ann Howe, it was announced at noon today.

Voting headquarters for Jane are in the United Cigar store. The other four contestants listed among the first five in the voting, with the stores in which their jars are located are as follows:

Paula Sue Watters, Manhattan cafe; Vivian Lee Garland, Dixon grocery; Delight Hart Glenn, Barriage appliance store; Gay Marie Holbrook, Dome roller rink.

It was announced this morning that contestants are still being accepted. Parents are directed to present pictures at the Blackhawk hotel, and to place their voting jar in the store of their choice.

Details of the contest may be obtained by calling either Mrs. Myrtle Morris, Blackhawk hotel, or Mrs. Betty Eichler, 623 East Fellows street.

Today's Acts, Talks

Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

A finish fight in the senate over the nomination appeared inevitable in view of Truman's assertion yesterday he has no intention of withdrawing Lilienthal's name. He said Lilienthal was thoroughly qualified and that he will stay with him through the end.

At about the same time GOP Floor Leader Wallace White announced he will vote against confirmation as he deems Lilienthal "temperamentally unfitted" for the job. Senator James P. Kem (R-Mo) also joined the anti-Lilienthal forces.

Both house and senate labor committees continued with their hearings on proposed labor legislation.

Cecil B. DeMille, movie producer, was called by the senate committee to tell his experience with unions.

Grant Cook, representing the Detroit Board of Trade, was down as the day's first witness before the house group.

Other congressional doings:

Secretary of State Marshall headed up Capitol Hill to give the senate foreign relations committee a report of United States foreign policy. In his first appearance before a congressional group since he became a cabinet member, Marshall was most likely in for questioning about his plans for the March 10 Moscow meeting of the big four foreign ministers to draft peace treaties for Germany and Austria.

The house Merchant Marine committee summoned witnesses for a hearing into charges by one of its members—Rep. Weichel (R-Ohio)—that government ships carrying troops and American citizens are unsafe and do not carry enough lifeboats and liferafts.

Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) argued against trimming diplomatic appropriations to the point where the state department can't pay salaries high enough to attract the right type of person for foreign service. Don't pinch pennies, she advised.

Chairman Wherry (R-Neb) announced the senate small business committee will investigate the news and publishing business, starting with the newsprint situation. "If there is any monopoly in this business we are going to find out about it," he told a reporter.

Truman Doesn't Say

attitude since the statement I read to you on Nov. 13, 1946."

Text of Statement

In that statement, Truman had said:

"As president of the United States, I am guided by a simple formula: To do in all cases from day to day, without regard to narrow political considerations, what seems to me to be best for the welfare of all our people."

Truman noted he had pledged at that time to "cooperate in every proper manner with the congress."

"The presidency is being conducted now just as it was then," he read. "It will continue to be so conducted. That is to say, I intend to continue to act in this office as the agent of the American people without regard to my personal political fortunes."

Discourages Competition

Politicians generally reacted to this with the observation that while Truman was proceeding without regard to his own political fortunes, he wasn't leaving much room open for any Democrat to get a foot in the White House door.

Hannegan's assertion in New York last week that the party will call on Truman to run for another term already had erected an early barrier to other possible aspirants. Hence Truman's continued silence on his availability would make that barrier really formidable.

Republicans, too, had their almost-but-not-quite candidate in Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Taft Also Double-Talks

Taft told a news conference at Columbus yesterday he is not denying that he may be a candidate for the 1948 GOP presidential nomination.

"But, again, I might not be," he added. Taft said it is too soon to discuss that kind of politics with the party's convention 16 months away.

No agreement has been reached with Senator John R. Bricker to withdraw and leave the Ohio favorite son field clear, Taft said, adding that he hadn't "encouraged such talk."

As a key to the delay in what many politicians still believe will be a later clarification of this situation, Taft observed that the more presidential talk intrudes into discussions now "the more confusion it introduces into the legislative program upon which the success of any Republican candidate so depends."

GI's, Germans Seized In Army Munich Raid

Munich, Germany, Feb. 14—(AP)—Eighty-six American soldiers and 200 German civilians were seized today in a raid by more than 900 U. S. troops and German police upon Munich's major "trouble area."

Searching for AWOL soldiers and black market operators, the raiders routed hundreds of persons from their beds in an area four blocks long in North Munich at 5:30 a. m.

More than half the Germans seized, arresting officers said, were girls in the company of soldiers.

Constabulary officers said the area of small one-family houses on the outskirts of the city had long been under suspicion.

The raid ordered by the local constabulary chief, Brig. Gen. Hobart R. Gay, lasted nearly three hours.

Fields Sentenced in Contempt Case

Washington, Feb. 14—(AP)—Benjamin F. Fields, Washington public relations man, today was sentenced by Federal District Judge Alexander Holtzoff to 90 days in jail and fined $250 for contempt of a house committee.

Defense attorneys announced they will appeal to the U. S. Court of Appeals and Fields was released on $500 bond.

Fields was convicted February 5 by a district court jury of failing to give the house surplus property committee last year all his financial records in connection with the sale of surplus bronze screen wire to C. B. Wart, an Oklahoma city builder.

The government contended Fields failed to submit documents in response to a committee subpoena, showing division of a $4,400 commission received for the sale of the screen. The government said Fields made 59 per cent profit on the transaction.

Fields had given the house committee last August a memorandum showing one third of the commission was to be paid to a Gleenn A. Dies, an associate; one third to "John Doe" and $400 to another "John Doe" with the remainder to himself.

In 1931 Fields was sentenced to 15 years by a federal court in Oklahoma for using the mails to defraud in the sale of oil stocks. He was paroled in 1938 and the sentence commuted in 1940.

Army Plane Burns in Crackup Near Macon

Macon, Ga., Feb. 14.—(AP)—A search party which beat its way through a swamp today to reach the wreckage of an Army plane which crashed after a take off from Robins Field reported that the seven persons aboard were dead.

Capt. H. R. Daniels, public relations officer at the field, said all seven persons apparently were killed instantly. Army officials did not release the names of those aboard.

The plane crashed about a mile and a half from the field last night. Robins Field is located about 15 miles south of Macon.

DIXON HOST TO PRINCETON TONIGHT

Tigers Here With Junior Score Stars

PROBABLE LINEUPS

Dixon	Pos.	Princeton
Joel Lehman	F.	Dick Morel
Jack Schultz	F.	Stuart Graham
Bryan Cannon	C.	Bill Dyke
Loren Munson	G.	Jay Mercer
George Wallace	G.	Jack DeBord

GAME FACTS

EVENT—NCIC contest.
PLACE—Dixon high school gym.
TIME—Prelim at 7 p. m. tonight, varsity game to follow.
COACHES—Lee Davison (Dixon), Bill Howard (Princeton).
OFFICIALS—Tom Clark and John Romans.

Dixon Dukes, with the pressure of a six-game losing string withdrawn on Saturday's triumph at Rochelle, greet Princeton's dangerous Tigers tonight in an NCIC feature at Dixon high school gym.

The Purple frosh-sophs, carrying a four-game skein, face an underclassmen team from Princeton in the 7 p. m. curtain raiser.

Princeton will display a high-scoring, all-junior quintet that has licked three of six conference foes but hasn't fared as well in outside competition.

Coach Bill Howard's club trimmed Mendota, 55-42; Sterling, 56-38; and Geneseo, 53-42, while bowing to Rock Falls, 67-50; Ottawa, 42-41 in overtime; and Hall Township, 49-43.

With non-loop foes, Princeton beat Manlius, LaMoille, Wyanet, Neponset, Toulon and Wenona but bowed to DePue twice. Hopkins of Granville, Walnut twice, Henry and Malden.

Score Lots of Points

Paced by Center Bill Dyke, Guard Jack DeBord and Forward Dick Morel, the Tigers score plenty of points. Morel is an even six feet tall, Dyke tips the beam at 6-2 and DeBord also stands 6-2.

The other starters are Forward Stuart "Butch" Graham (5-11) and Capt. Jay Mercer, 5-10 backcourt star. Both are consistent pointmakers.

For first line reserves, Howard has Bill Siders (5-11). Jim Kampf (5-6) and Hugh Peterson, 6-6 beanpole who sees frequent action.

Although Princeton has been an easy mark for Bureau county's small schools, the blue and white seem to be at their best against loop teams. Only against Rock Falls did the outfit fail to jell properly.

Only One Win in Loop

Dixon, to change the scene, has been at its worst in NCIC play, claiming but one triumph in six tries while winning five of nine outside games.

Coach Lee Davison will stick with his winning combination of Saturday, opening with Joel Lehman, a current threat each time he unlooses a one-hander, and Jack Schultz at forwards; Bryan Cannon at center and Loren Munson and George Wallace at guards.

Schultz, heretofore a guard, was shifted to the front court last week and the switch, which sent Munson to defense, helped pay off at Rochelle.

The varsity game is expected to begin near the 8:30 mark, following a prelim match.

Frosh-Sophs Seek No. 5

With four straight the junior Dukes seek No. 5 in a row. Probable starters are Ron Sitter and Ted Fish, forwards; Jim Phelps, center; Ken Naffziger and Don Utter, guards.

The streak began here against Mendota Jan. 24 when the locals copped a 28-24 decision. Then came successes over Rock Falls, 31-30; Polo, 33-29; and Rochelle, 30-27.

Princeton is an unknown factor, as regards the first game.

Larry After Hank, Makes Phone Offer

New York, Feb. 14—(AP)—Hank Greenberg, who only last Sunday announced he was "considering" retirement from baseball, may yet be an active player this season — with the New York Yankees.

This was learned today from a reliable source, who claimed he "knew" that President Larry MacPhail of the Yankees had sounded out Frank McKinney, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, via telephone to ask if Greenberg was for sale.

The informant said MacPhail offered the Pirates more money than they paid to the Detroit club for Greenberg's release. Neither MacPhail nor McKinney could be reached immediately for comment.

Although Greenberg would be the last one to say so, it is no secret that the major league's home run king would jump at the chance to play in his home town New York. He made it rather plain that he would welcome the opportunity to perform with a team of his own choosing when he said the other day, "I feel there is yet much good baseball in me as a player and executive."

We have received an answer to Tuesday's letter from "A Fan Who Wants To See a Clean Game."

Please note the various letters appearing in this space are not the work of your columnist. However, since they indicate public opinion and since our platform is to print the gripes and suggestions of Mr. Average Fan, we believe the missives to be important.

"Sports Editor
"Dixon Evening Telegraph
"Dixon, Illinois.
'Dear Sir:

"I noticed an item in your sports column in regard to Rock Falls being 'dirty.' I am wondering if the North Central conference's Big Bad Boy (Dixon) has gotten out of control as to sportsmanship. It seems very much so, as there were complaints from Polo, Beloit, Wis., Ottawa and Rock Falls. Then after the going is too rough they contest a conference game because of their unusual 'hard luck' in losing by a small margin of points.

"In regard to the Rock Falls-Dixon game, Dixon might stand back and take a look at what really happened. In the first quarter a Dixon player lost his head and according to the rules of basketball should have been disqualified from the game, but officials don't like to do this. He was taken out by his coach and later returned to the game cooled down slightly. Of course the heat was on as in any game where the score is close. With one minute and 15 seconds remaining and the Rockets leading for the first time, they elected to stall, which is considered mighty smart basketball.

"As the game ended one Rock Falls player, an ex-serviceman, collapsed. Immediately the floor was filled with people. One Dixon woman lost her ladyship and slapped a Rock Falls player, also an ex-serviceman. Is this the way Dixon is being taught to play? You can imagine what our ex-servicemen think, after serving their country and returning home to continue their education.

"After the brawl was over I went to the officials' room and there was the Dixon coach, also acting very unsportsmanlike, even after he had the break in the first quarter of not having his hot-tempered player disqualified and also a break in three baskets not being allowed Rock Falls.

"I am wondering if Dixon had not better sweep her own doorstep first according to the amount of complaints coming from the other schools.

"A Former Carroll County Resident, Who Was A Basketball Coach With a B.A. Degree."

It's not usually our policy to reply to letters from fans. But the record obviously needs straightening in this case.

In the first place, officials tell us it isn't an automatic ejection foul to commit the sin occuring in the Rock Falls game by a Dixon player.

Since the matter has been brought up, the player was Joel Lehman, who got into some difficulty during the first period as the heat of battle waxed warm.

A technical foul was called on Lehman when he pounced up from a tangle near the scorer's bench to cock his fist at Guard Doug Unger of Rock Falls. It was a technical foul pure and simple . . . but no more than that. And Lehman had been ridden into the boards when he didn't have the ball, a possible basis for the action.

Then there's the statement about after-game fireworks in the officials' dressing room. We happened to be present and saw no "unsportsmanlike" display by Coach Lee Davison. Some comments were exchanged . . . nothing more.

As to the slapping incident, no verification was established by this reporter. It was rumored. Probably no one can say for sure, since a mob obstructed most vision.

Concerning Ottawa, no protest was entered as stated above. However, Dixon high school has affadavits on file attesting to a turn-back of the timer's clock.

One last comment on the letter. When did Beloit gripe about its game here? Or did they?

Since both sides of the question have been presented in this column, along with our facts, we consider the matter closed. No good can come of tirelessly replaying the various games referred to through letters, etc. Let's forget 'em and concentrate on the remaining games.

B&A Wins, Hospital Forfeits Two Games

B & A deadlocked Knacks for the City league lead last night at Dixon high school gym by turning back Watt Four, 41-26. Each joint first placer owns a record of six wins and one loss with one game to play.

State Hospital stopped Coss Dairy, 42-34, in the prelim but then forfeited due to the presence of Charles Clutts in the lineup. Last week's 26-14 victory by the Hospital crew over Watt Four was also wiped off the books since Clutts, an ineligible player, participated.

The series of events left the league's standings in this order: Knacks 6-1, B & A 6-1, Coss 4-3, State Hospital 1-6, Watt Four 1-7.

FORFEIT RULING

Charles Clutts, of State Hospital, ruled ineligible last night, was removed from the playing list Dec. 30, when Coach R. S. Rhoads revealed he was under doctor's orders to abstain from action.

He was named manager of the outfit but then participated in last week's Watt Four game, setting up a verbal rhubarb that ended in the forfeiture of both games last night.

At the time he was announced through as a squadman, Hospital believed he was not to be cut from the actual roster. However, at the time, it was interpreted as a release by loop officials.

Although State Hospital was charged with the paper defeat, they dribbled rings around Coss Dairy, taking a 22-11 lead at halftime by clicking for 14 second period points while limiting Coss to Lewis "The Cat" Glenn's gifter.

Gardner Hits 22 Points

Coss, paced by Forward Don Thoms who scored 15 points, rallied to ring up 23 second half tallies but Hospital counted 26 to protect their margin.

Forward Cecil Gardner of Hospital experienced his hottest evening of the season, bombing the nets for nine fielders and four charities for 22 points.

B & A couldn't get going for a quarter and a half against Watt Four but finally managed to retire at intermission with a 15-10 advantage.

The sporting goods boys hit 26 points during the last half to pull up in front easily. Guard Boo Hess collected 10 points, topping the winners while Johnny Hyland's seven points was high for Watt Four.

Rock Falls, Sterling in Tilt Tonight

Basketball swings down the home stretch the next two weeks in preparation for rthe state high school tournament series.

Most conference titles will be decided soon. One, the Rock River Valley, is up for grabs tonight with Polo (8-1) and Morrison (7-1) the participants.

Although Rock Falls (6-0) is practically a shoo-in for the NCIC gonfalon, the Rockets won't be able to cinch honors this eve as both Hall Township (4-1) and DeKalb (3-1) have been beaten only once. The two collide at DeKalb with the loser dropping from the flag scene. Rock Falls, entertaining lowly Sterling (0-6) tonight, hasn't lost a loop start and will be shooting for victory No. 7.

Other NCIC tilts are Princeton (3-3) at Dixon (1-5) and Geneseo (1-3) at Mendota (2-4).

Aces At Winnebago

In the Route 72 wheel, Ashton and Byron remain one-two. Ashton (10-0) travels to Winnebago (1-8) while Byron (10-1) appears at Stillman Valley (5-6). Leaf River (3-6) is booked at Forreston (4-6). And Monroe Center (7-4) takes on Pecatonica (1-9).

The Rock River Valley setup has two other skirmishes in addition to the climactic Polo-Morrison affair. Mt. Carroll (0-8) journeys to Mt. Morris (4-5) while Amboy (4-5) takes the Rochelle (4-4) floor.

Other area matches are Harlem of Rockford vs. Oregon of the RRVC, Serena at Paw Paw, Lee Center at Ohio, Franklin Grove vs. Steward, Ottawa of the NCIC at St. Bede of Peru, Prophetstown at Erie, Sterling Community at Fulton.

Kewanee vs. Galesburg

Big Eight tilts pair Elgin and Freeport, LaSalle-Peru and East Aurora, West Aurora and West Rockford, East Rockford and Joliet.

Meantime, Kewanee's Boilermakers whipped the Streaks in a previous meeting but expect a tighter margin without the home floor advantage.

Dundee plays West Chicago, Paris meets Georgetown, Centralia goes against Harrisburg and Pekin faces Streator.

A southwest headliner brings together Collinsville's Kahoks and Granite City, the section's two strongest teams. And Mt. Vernon tackles West Frankfort.

Shank's Outfit to Face Beloit

Mt. Vernon, Ia., Feb. 14—(Special)—Cornell's basketball team travels to Beloit, Wis., this week end in quest of Midwest conference win No. 5 against Beloit college, present undefeated leaders of the circuit.

The sports standard of statistics was shattered here Friday when highly-favored Lawrence college, losers only to Wisconsin and Beloit in ten games this season, succumbed to an inspired Purple quintet 56-49.

Cy Shank of Dixon returned to his early season shooting sights and poured 15 points through the hoop for high point honors.

Beloit, coached by Dolph Stanley, ex - Taylorville, Ill., high school mentor, claims a 16 game winning streak. John Orr, freshman forward, is the club's scoring ace.

1,000 POINTER

Philadelphia, Feb. 14—(AP)—Joe Fulks hoisted his scoring record to 1,004 points last night to become the first professional basketball player in modern history to pass the 1,000-mark.

The sharpshooting forward for the Philadelphia Warriors rimmed 19 points to lead his team to victory over the Cleveland Rebels in a Basketball Association of America game.

Fulks has scored at least 11 points in each of his last 35 contests. He holds the BAA individual game record of 41 points scored against Toronto. The Murray State (Ky) Teachers star also paces the circuit in total baskets, total foul conversions and in average per game.

Rivals Clash Again at Polo Tonight

The 1946-1947 championship of the Rock River Valley conference will be decided tonight at Polo when the league-leading Marcos coached by Bob Breckenridge get together with Coach "Bud" Cole's Morrison Mustangs.

Polo currently tops the loop on eight wins and a single reverse, 22-21 by Rochelle Dec. 6. Morrison has won seven against a lone losst to tonight's host, Polo, 42-40, Dec. 20.

However, Polo owns much the better season's record — 14 victories and only three defeats. Morrison has won nine of 16 contests.

The Blue and Gold Marcos dropped Lanark, Oregon three times; Amboy three times, Morrison, Mt. Carroll, Mt. Morris, Alumni, Rochelle, Dixon and Sterling Community while bowing to Fulton, Lanark and Rochelle.

Loss to Rock Falls

Morrison holds triumphs over Prophetstown, Mt. Carroll (two), Mt. Morris (two), Rochelle, Oregon and Sterling Community. The Mustangs lost to Alumni, Erie, Rock Falls twice, Polo, Rock Island and Fulton.

Defending league champions, Morrison has been held together by Forward Jimmy Buell, Guard John Brown and Center Gene Weir, a trio of returning lettermen. Bob Wilkens has aided considerably as have Guard Dick Bradley and Center Lindell Lange.

Buell, Wilkens, Brown and Bradley are expected to form tonight's starting nucleus for the Whiteside county club.

A pair of brothers, Edward and Edmund Raley, who star at center and guard respectively, pace Polo. Edward is a steady scorer while Edmund also hits the hoop effectively.

The remainder of the lineup consists of Forwards Nonnie Knudson and George Smith and Guard John Clayton.

Morrison rolled up a terrific total of 71 points against a floundering Mt. Morris combo last week. But Polo hopes to cool 'em off this evening.

ARKY VAUGHAN BACK WITH DODGERS; SIGNS CONTRACT

Brooklyn, Feb. 14—(AP)— Arky Vaughan, a California rancher the past three seasons, is back in the Dodger fold and will be battling it out for his old third base post when the Brooks open spring training at Havana next Tuesday.

Knacks Lose, 68-59, In Tourney Finals

The DeKalb Hybrids five of Waterman stowed away the Rochelle polio benefit tourney championship last night by defeating Dixon's Knacks, 68-59.

Rochelle Cities Service was awarded third place on a forfeit when Louie's Stables, also of Rochelle, failed to appear for the consolation tilt.

Knacks possessed a 54-53 lead at one point in the fourth quarter but the Waterman outfit regained momentum to finish with a rush of buckets.

The Hybrids assumed a 14-10 lead at the quarter and were in front, 31-28 at intermission.

A large crowd of Dixon fans were reported on hand for last night's feature.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

OVERCOMING

Real glory springs from the silent conquest of ourselves; without that the conqueror is only the first slave.

—James Thomson

I is not so much being exempt from faults, as the having overcome them, that is an advantage to us.

—Alexander Pope

You will find it less easy to uproot faults, than to choke them by gaining virtues.

—John Ruskin

If one lives rightly, every effort to hurt one will only help that one; for God will give the ability to overcome whatever tends to impede progress.

—Mary Baker Eddy

If any speak ill of thee, fly home to thy own conscience and examine thine heart. If thou art guilty, it is a just correction; if not guilty, it is a fair instruction.

—George Herbert

Draw the curtain of night upon injuries; shut them up in the tower of oblivion and let them be as though they never had been.

—Francis Bacon

Youth Rally Success At Mt. Morris Church

(Telegraph Special Service)

Mt. Morris — Rev. Dennis Savage immediately won the hearts of nearly 90 young people in his reading of the play "Our Town" at the rally sponsored by the youth committee of the Mt Morris council of churches Saturday night.

A period of games under the leadership of Rev. Ridel Kelsey of the Methodist church reached a high point of enthusiasm when opposing teams played "football" with a ping pong ball on a ping pong table. Goals were made by blowing the ball against the gusts of the opposing team. Players were encouraged by the yells of their respective cheering sections. Kitchen utensil bands competed before judges at the half.

The enthusiasm of the young people for the rally was evident when 70 of them came to the 4 o'clock song-fest on Sunday inspite of the other interesting Sunday afternoon activities.

The combined choirs of the cooperating churches will present the sacred cantata Dubois' "Seven Last Words."

ICC Plans to Change Rules of Construction

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14—(AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission announced today it is planning to adopt a new general order governing construction of communication and power lines.

Commission Chairman John D. Biggs said construction methods has made obsolete the commission's 1927 order on the subject. A special group named last year has completed its study and will draft the new order.

★ SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
Jesus at the Feast of Tabernacles

Scripture: The Gospel of John, Chapters 7-9

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The Jewish Feast of Tabernacles has a uniquely interesting place among religious festivals.

To commemorate the wandering tent-life of the Israelites in the wilderness, in their long journey from Egypt to Canaan, Jews lived for the seven days of the feast in arbors ro bowers built of branches.

There is a good description of the feast, and of the spirit of the joyous occasion, in the eighth chapter of Nehemiah, with its admonition to the people: "Go your way, eat the fat, and drink the sweet, and send portions unto them for whom nothing is prepared." It must have been much like our Thanksgiving and Christmas celebrations.

Jerusalem was thronged at such a time, and Jesus apparently did not intend to go up for the feast, despite the urgings of His brethren that He should do so.

Light is thrown upon the words of Jesus, "A man's foes shall be those of his own household," by the attitude of these brethren. We are told (John 7:5) that they did not believe in Him, and their urging that He should go to Jerusalem for the feast was in the nature of a temptation, similar to that by which He had been tempted at the beginning of His ministry, "Shew Thyself to the world."

Jesus conscious that "His hour had not yet come," resisted their insincere pleadings. But after they had gone, He decided to go secretly to Jerusalem, arriving in the midst of the feast.

Meanwhile, there had been much speculation concerning Him. Would He appear at the feast? Was He a good man or an impostor like others who had professed to be the Messiah? Would the authorities who had been seeking Him, arrest Him?

Then, when Jesus appeared, He astonished all by His presence and the power of His teaching. How, they said, did this man know letters, never having been taught?

Jesus answered this. His teaching, He said, was not of man, "My doctrine is not mine, but His that sent Me." To do the will of the Father was to know of the doctrine.

The record of the few days of the feast is of great events and great sayings. Many believed, as they listened to the Master's words of grace and wisdom, so His enemies were afraid to arrest Him.

But His very popularity only aroused their hostility the more, and the time was drawing near when, at another feast —that of the Passover—He would become the victim of man's hate and the sacrifice for man's sin.

Municipal League Asks Part of State Sales Tax Money

Chicago, Feb. 14—(AP)—The Illinois Municipal league favors diversion of part of the state's sales tax revenue back to municipalities.

A league officer estimated after a meeting of the group here yesterday that such a step would bring more than $25,000,000 annually to municipalities.

Thomas A. Matthews, league attorney, said the group would press for action on its program at the current legislative session and planned to present it to Governor Green, who has opposed diversion of state revenue from the state, and to state legislators at a meeting in Springfield. The date for the meeting has not been set.

The league also will discuss the diversion plan with local municipal officers at meetings in each senatorial district. The proposed diversion would be apportioned on a population basis.

Other points in the league program were:

1. Permitting cities to tax utilities, with such taxes being deductible from the taxes utilities pay the state under Illinois' utilities tax program.

2. Changing special assessment laws to provide that no special assessments can be initiated in areas that are not 50 per cent or more improved.

The league said such a change would improve the saleability of municipal bonds by stopping what its executive director, A. L. Sargent of Springfield, termed "abuses" of using the present law to float bonds on unimproved subdivided property.

Hold Herrin Man in Youth Stabbing

Herrin, Ill., Feb. 14—(AP)—A coroner's jury last night ordered Jewell Barnes, 29, of Herrin, held for grand jury action in the fatal stabbing of 17-year-old Russell Tim Porter.

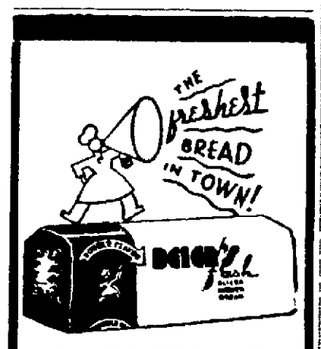

Testimony at the inquest brought out that the two men left a booth in a Herrin tavern Tuesday night after removing their coats and disappeared into a nearby alley. A short time later Porter, who was to have left Wednesday for induction into the army, returned to the tavern suffering from knife wounds. He died several hours later.

Witnesses related they heard no argument between the two and that no customers in the tavern followed them outside.

Barnes, held in the Williamson county jail at Marion, was not present at the inquest, but two policemen who arrested him testified that at the time they apprehended Barnes he told them "I had to do it." The officers, Paul Belcher and Jake Jones, said Barnes gave no reason and made no further statement.

State's Attorney Lan Haney said he would present the case to the May term grand jury.

Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Porter of Kewanee, had been living here.

Friendship Grows

Bloomington, Ill. — (AP)— Jacob Shinabarger, night fireman for a heating plant, didn't know what he was starting when he adopted two mice to help him while away the lonely hours.

The mice would come out of their hole and eat bread from Shinabarger's hand. He named them Susie and Tommy.

He called them out again the other night, as usual. Out came Susie, then Tommy, and then two squeaking offspring.

"I don't know", mused Shinabarger. "Guess you can overdo a good thing". However, they're still friends and Shinabarger shares his lunch with all four.

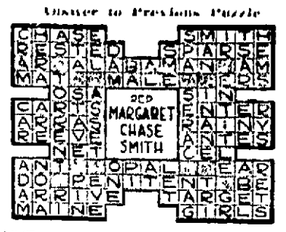

Chinese Gunman Kills Marine on City Street

Peiping, Feb. 14—(AP) — An American Marine was shot and killed by an unidentified Chinese last night soon after he emerged from a downtown theater. He was an enlisted man, from HQ., Second battalion, 5th Marine regt.

Reports received by the Marine Corps, which is investigating the incident, said the Marine, in company wth two friends, was walking along a street when the Chinese approached, drew a gun and shot. The Marine died 20 minutes later. The killer escaped down a side street.

Labor Strike Closes 32 Paris Newspapers

Paris, Feb. 14—(AP)— Union labor hammered a new wedge into the government's price and wage control campaign today as a strike of mechanical workers closed the capital's 32 daily newspapers, including the English language Continental Daily Mail and the European edition of the New York Herald Tribune.

Pressroom activity in Paris came to a sudden halt last night when printers and pressmen, acting on union orders, joined administrative employes who went on strike Tuesday morning. Both groups want 25 per cent wage boosts, linking their demand with the general labor federation's projected nationwide minimum wage for all industry.

Dr. Carl Winters Speaks Sunday in Mt. Morris Series

(Telegraph Special Service)

Mt. Morris — "After Bombers, Builders" is the topic to be used by Dr. Carl S. Winters, who speaks Sunday evening under the auspices of the Mt. Morris council of churches.

His address will be given in the Brethren church at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Winters was crime commissioner in Michigan under two governors, and was chairman of the Juvenile Crime commission for two years. He was director of the youth department of Chautauqua, N. Y., for 10 years and has been a regular lecturer on their summer program for 12 years.

He is pastor of the First Baptist church, Oak Park, Ill. and Minister of the Oak Park pulpit of the air, having been a radio minister for 14 years.

Dr. Winters is a dynamic speaker, considered one of the outstanding platform men of the day.

In his topic Sunday night, he will attempt to point out the tragic realism of the hour and the unlimited possibilities of the future if we are wise enough to think and act creatively, according to Harold Hoff, chairman of the council of churches forum committee which secured Dr. Winters.

RENEW OLD REGATTA

Lake Land, Similar to Yellowstone, Is Found in Antarctic

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Correspondent
Representing the Combined American Press.

Aboard the Mount Olympus in the Antarctic, Feb. 13—(Delayed)—(AP)—Discovery of a land of lakes in inland Antarctica opens the wide possibility that other and larger such areas may exist elsewhere on the South Polar continent, Dr. Arthur Howard of the United States geological survey said today.

The geologist said the lake region—found this week in the Knox coast vicinity and dubbed "Shangri-la"—might owe its existence to an underlying mass of hot rock. He said the region might be somewhat like Yellowstone park, where heat for geysers and hot springs is believed to come from such a rock mass.

Official dispatches of the U. S. navy's Antarctic expedition said that a Mariner seaplane from the western task group landed Thursday local time—Wednesday eastern standard time—on one of the newfound lakes and the crew took a sample of the water, reported "definitely warmer" than elsewhere.

Ore-Bearing Rocks Seen

The crewmen, under Lt. Comdr. David E. Bunger of Coronado, Calif., noted what seemed ore-bearing rocks on the ground and a few birds overhead. Ice rimmed the region, but none was seen on the lake. Neither, however, was any steam.

Howard said the ice-free area could not be explained by the absence of snowfall because it was within easy reach of moisture-laden winds from the ocean and was not protected by mountains. He added, however, that similar areas due simply to dryness might be found deep in the interior.

He said it was not especially significant that the Mariner crew noticed no steam, because hot springs or fumaroles—steaming holes in the ground—might not be visible at that particular point or from high in the air. The lakes also might freeze over during the winter like the Yellowstone lakes, Howard added, or remain open the year around if the heat supply was sufficient.

Aid Offered Next of Kin of Heroic Dead of Last War

Walter V. Knack, commander of Dixon post No. 12, American Legion, and A. C. Handell, chairman of the post's committee on Dependents of Veterans, today issued the following statement and appeal to the next of kin of deceased veterans of World War II:

"The next of kin of all deceased World War II veterans are urged by the Committee on Dependents of Veterans to call on the representative for the Illinois Veterans Commission at 105½ E. 2nd street in the Worsley Building in regards to compensation or other monies to which they may be entitled.

"If your relatives died in service and if you are next of kin then be sure to contact the Illinois Veterans Commission at once. He will gladly advise you as to your rights and will fill out all of the necessary forms for you.

"The Illinois Veterans Commission representative here is Albert Ruggles, who at all times is more then willing to assist you in any matters in regards to all veterans. This service is given you by your state without any cost to you except a little of your time.

"This is the second notice of this effect, please do not disregard it. If you are the next of kin of a deceased World War II veteran then please talk to Mr. Ruggles any time except Thursday afternoons, when he is in Amboy, also not Saturdays."

Costs Up, Tribune to Hike Price Tomorrow

Chicago, Feb. 14—(AP)—The price of the Chicago Tribune will be raised from three to four cents a copy, effective tomorrow, and the Sunday issue outside the city and its suburban areas will be increased 10 to 15 cents.

In announcing the price increases last night, the nswpaper said they were "necessitated by the large increased costs of everything that goes into the making of a newspaper."

Mrs. Elizabeth Seilemeier is a patient at the Deaconess hospital in Freeport.

Mrs. Faye Reed of Glendale, Cal., who accompanied the body of her mother to Polo two weeks ago, left for her home Thursday.

Trapped

Los Angeles — (AP) — Six police officers, answering a radio call of a burglar in a market, followed his trail inside—through a high window and over three milk crates.

They found their man, his arms loaded with liquor, but discovered they couldn't retreat the way they came because another policeman, left outside, had driven the combination patrol car and stepladder out of shouting range. And all the doors were padlocked from the outside.

They telephoned the owner, who gratefully came down and opened the door.

Denver Friends Try Mail Shower For Oregon Girl

(Telegraph Special Service)

Oregon—Mrs. Harry Bradbury has received a box of pink and blue shower gifts from a group of friends at her former home in Denver, Colo.

The friends called Mrs. Bradbury by long distance phone Saturday evening, each one giving her a personal greeting and revealing the news they were packing the gifts for her.

Mrs. E. M. Weyrauch underwent major surgery at the Warmolts clinic Wednesday.

Mrs. John Coison treasurer of District 32 of the Rebekah order will be among district officers who will be guests of Mrs. Rose Carpenter of Leaf River at a luncheon Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sincox have purchased the John Sauer residence on South Fifth street. Mrs. E. L. Satterfield, who occupied the house, has purchased property in Mount Morris where she is moving. Mrs. Susan B. Nutt, who a year ago moved to a farm near Egan, has purchased the John Cordes residence at Eighth and Jefferson streets, which Mr. and Mrs. Sincox vacated and plans to take possession soon.

Discharged Vet Faces Charges of Forgery

Chicago, Feb. 14—(AP)—William R. Graham, 24, a discharged war veteran, was in custody today after being seized yesterday on a charge of forging the name of Donald J. McFall, of Canton, Ill., on money orders, and cashing them.

Graham, formerly of Westminster, S. C., was traced through his army serial number, which he put on the endorsements.

Taken into custody by postal inspectors, he was held to the grand jury under $500 bond after pleading guilty before U. S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

John Looby, Assistant U. S. attorney, said agents began searching for Graham in March, 1945, after two money orders totaling $200, made out in the name of McFall, were forged and cashed in Chicago.

Federal agents, after tracing the serial number, waited until Graham returned from overseas and had been dischaged from the army before apprehending him. Looby said Graham told him he cashed the orders for a night club singer, and received $50 for forging McFall's name.

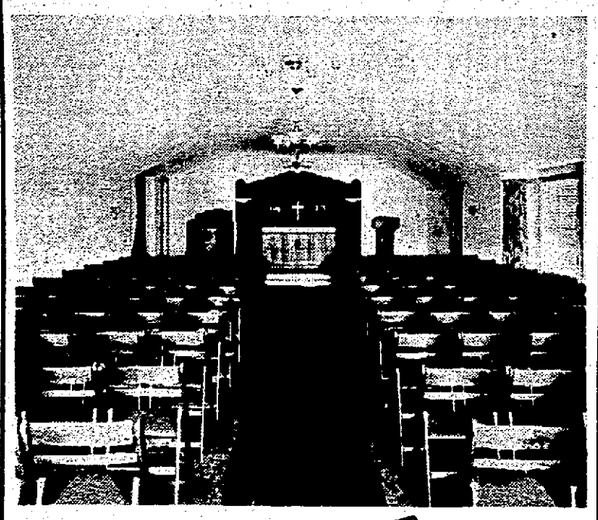

The prosecutor said the girl singer was being sought.
